Schools, Parochial And Public, Start New Year

Some schools in the Lincoln-Way area opened last week and some this, so as of Sept. 4, all were going on full schedule.

Mokena Grade School Dist. 159, and St. Mary parochial grade school at Mokena, opened Aug. 26.

Arbury Hills Grade School and Frankfort Grade Schools opened Aug. 27.

Lincoln-Way High School started its new year Aug. 28.

Sacred Heart, in St. Francis Woods, Mokena, had a trial schedule last Thursday and opened for regular hours on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

New Lenox Grade School Dist. 122 had its opening Sept. 4, and St. Jude Grade School of New Lenox also opened.

Providence High School, New Lenox, had its preliminary opening Thursday with all classes on regular schedule last Friday, Aug. 30.

It probably will be another week or 10 days before accurate attendance figures will be available, it was reported.

At Mokena, however, the public school enrollment on the first day pupils reported, Aug. 26, the total was given as 868. There are 175 kindergarten and first grade pupils at Carpenter Street School, according to Mokena's superintendent, James Ennis, and 789 full time pupils at Willowcrest School in grades one thru eight, plus 74 seventh and eighth students from St. Mary that attend on a half-time, dual-enrollment basis. Also there are 15 special education pupils that reside in and are enrolled in Dist. 159 that attend special schools elsewhere.

At Carpenter Street School there are 102 in kindergarten, to date, and 73 first graders. Willowcrest School has 25 first graders, 73 in second grade, 88 in third, 78 in fourth, 94 in fifth, 94 in sixth, 118 in seventh and 118 in eighth, including the dual-enrollment pupils.

Supt. Ennis reports that every classroom or other teaching station have a class average of 28 pupils, which is quite satisfactory for good learning experience, he said.

The new school at Mokena will be under construction this fall and will be completed by September, 1969, it was said. Completion of the new school, Ennis pointed out, will be just in time to meet the expected increase in enrollment.

Enrollment at Lincoln-Way High is up more than 100 over last year to date and it is probable the next two weeks will show additional enrollments there, it was said.

The count as of last Friday was 1,344. The freshmen, as could be expected, make up the largest class. There were 379 in the count Friday. There were 333 sophomores, 313 juniors, and 319 seniors.

The number of freshmen this year is larger than the total school enrollment in 1954, which was the Lincoln-Way's first year. There are 76 teachers there this year, or two more than were on the staff last year. Twenty-one of the faculty are new this year.

Crash Fatal To L-W Loyalty Day Chairman

Harold (Hap) Dailey, 39, of 321 E. Fourth Ave., New Lenox, a past commander of Harry E. Anderson post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was killed early Sunday morning, Sept. 1, when his car struck a tree off Wolf Rd., near the Norfolk & Western crossing, just inside Cook County. He was pronounced dead, however, at Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, so an inquest will be conducted at New Lenox.

A carpenter, Mr. Dailey was employed by the Alexander Construction Co. at Romeoville. Born at Detroit, he came to New Lenox as a youth in 1945, and enlisted from there on May 29, 1946 in the army. He served in the Army of Occupation in Korea until he was given a discharge Dec. 9, 1947.

He was quite active in the VFW post at New Lenox and at one time served as its commander. He also was chairman of the Loyalty Day program at Lincoln-Way High School for the Fifth District of the Illinois Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the past several years, and it has been rated as one of the best of its kind in the state.

Mr. Dailey was a former Democrat committeeman at New Lenox and for a number of years he coached Little League baseball teams.

Besides his wife, the former Joanne Yates, Mr. Dailey is survived by four children, Steven, Barry, Michael and Timothy, his mother, Mrs. Grace Van Dyke, of Joliet, and two brothers, James, of St. Anne, and Joseph, of Joliet.

Funeral services were conducted from the Baskerville Chapel, Lincoln Highway, at 9:30 Wednesday morning, to St. Jude Church, New Lenox, at 10, where a solemn requiem high mass was sung.

An honor guard was posted by the VFW, at the chapel, and there will be military rites in connection with the interment in St. Joseph Cemetery, Papineau, Ill., which is near St. Anne.

CROWD PLEASER - Carl Lindee, trundling along on the big wheel, made a hit with the spectators that lined the Frankfort streets to view the festival parade last Sunday. Arbury Hills First Nighters Will Begin Season Tonight

Mrs. Edward Hovi
Telephone: 479-5740
The First Nighters will have their first meeting of the season tonight, Thursday, September 5, beginning at 8:00 P.M. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Joan Cumbee on Birch Avenue.

The Arbury Hills Baseball League will have a meeting of the committee for the banquet. The banquet for the boys will be held hopefully, before the end of the month. The exact date will be announced next week.

The Summit Hill Parent-Teacher Group will have their first meeting of the new school term next Thursday evening, Sept. 12, beginning at 8:00 p.m. at the school.

Following the business meeting Mr. Avila, the superintendent of the school will introduce the teaching staff to those parents attending the meeting. All parents are invited to attend from kindergarten to eighth grades. Also included are residents of the district who have no children attending the school, but are interested in the affairs of the school and its staff.

Those boys of Boy Scout Troop 10 and the two Scoutmasters who were tapped out for the Order of the Arrow at the recent campout at new Camp Morris, will be taking their "Ordeal" next week end, Sept. 13 and 14, to become regular members.

Young Joe Arcuri, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arcuri on Walnut was scheduled to re-enter the hospital on Labor Day prior to having heart surgery. He was scheduled for surgery in early August, but a skin infection prevented the operation at that time. He is expected to need about three weeks for recovery, if all goes well. Good Luck, Joe!

Susan Louis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Louis on Poplar Street, celebrated her fourth birthday last Thursday, with a children's party including six of her young friends. Also included were some of the mummies to watch the darlings.

A luncheon party included sandwiches in the shape of animals and kool aid to drink, topped off with ice cream and birthday cake.

The two birthdays coming so close together with Danny turning six last week and Susan turning four the following week, postponed the family party until last Sunday for both children.

The Arbury Hills School is settling back to normalcy after the usual chaos of the first days back. As of Aug. 29 there were 475 pupils enrolled in the school including the kindergarten. The large increase in enrollment necessitated the using of the last empty classroom.

There was a purchase of new desks to accommodate the addition of a second seventh grade. A total of fifty new desks were purchased, some as replacements.

The financial standing of the school as far as the Education Funds goes is in good shape as possible. Except for the tax delay through the numerous protests of the 13% multiplier to the tax bills, the district might not have had to anticipate this year at all. Due to the cooperation of the staff and the board the educational fees were kept the same as last year, in spite of the fact that there was updating of the Science, History, Geography, English, and Reading programs.

The funds available for school use comes from three sources: 1) State-aid, $120,000 approximately for the year, this is based on pupil attendance, not enrollment; 2) Real Estate Taxes, $48,000 approximately for the year; and 3) Educational Fees paid by the parents, $4,200. In contract the approximate cost of running the school is $190,000 per year. It's becoming almost even.

Much painting and maintenance was done during the summer including about one-half of the school being painted, the gym was painted both inside and out; and the replacement of the floor to ceramic tile in the boys washroom in the original building.

Much cooperation has been shown to the school by those parents whose children must submit a current report of a physical examination. Some one hundred seventy children were involved, kindergarten or first grade and the fifth grade students.

Since the new state law became effective last year, a much more rigid program must be followed in order that the school complies with the state law. Only those who object on religious grounds are exempt from the law. If you object on religious grounds, you must submit a written letter from the head of your church so stating the stand of your church on the matter.

The special education program for the Lincoln-Way District will again have the administration of the program based in the Chelsea School in Frankfort. At the head of the program is Mr. Mackay, who is also school psychologist for the district. Each school has the use of his services on a minimum of one day per month, or more by appointment.

The superintendent and the staff wish to make it clear that pupils should dress in a neat and orderly manner with the boys maintaining a sensible hair length at all times, and no jewelry. The girls are to wear no lipstick, rouge, or eye make up, and are to remember that mini-skirts and culottes are sportswear and not school wear. Sometimes you have to bend down to pick up a pencil. The school, teachers and superintendent will keep a close watch to maintain these sensible rules, please cooperate gracefully.

On the second and fourth Wednesday of each month the school will be dismissed at 2:55 p.m. to allow for curriculum study and teachers meetings.

There will be a school calendar prepared by the P.T.G. including the dates of school activities for the year.

Instead of distributing the first report card to the children during school hours, a day of parent-teacher conferences will be planned to allow both sides to talk out any questions or problems. The date is tentatively set for Nov. 12.

The insurance forms for the voluntary insurance program for the children were to be passed out to the pupils this week. Please consider the advisability of one of the insurance plans for your child. The cost is nominal and the company reliable.

Convention Moods

Minority groups and demonstrators, professional and amateur, made the 1968 National Democratic Convention one that will long be remembered. Chief Photographer Pat Callahan captured pictorially many of the resultant moods. The traditional raised hand-clasp of the party ticket, Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muske, signaled a plea for party unity.

National Guardsmen and federal troops augmented Chicago police charged with maintaining law and order in the face of numerous forewarning threats of violence during convention week. Ugly confrontations between police and demonstrators erupted in front of the Conrad-Hilton, convention headquarters.

Mayor Richard Daley, target of scathing criticism for police handling of demonstrators in the streets and other security measures, ignores catcalls and boos in the Amphitheatre to read to the chair the Illinois vote for the presidential nomination.

Happiest moments of the turbulent week came after HHH's acceptance speech promised the end of an era and the beginning of "a new day." Delegates wave miniature flags to nominees and their families who gathered on the rostrum for a round of introductions at the conclusion of the final session.

Disease Danger from Wild Animals

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

The tourist's or camper's natural urge to make pets of the baby animals he finds in the wilds can prove dangerous.

At this time of the year rabbit fever, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, bubonic plague and rabies are more widespread, and the most dreaded of these is rabies.

Rabies, a viral disease, is usually conveyed by the saliva of infected carnivores and is transmitted when an infected animal bites another.

However, even the tiniest scratch from claws can transmit any of these diseases.

The most usual carriers of rabies are foxes, wolves, coyotes, skunks, squirrels, rabbits, racoons, and -- until antirabies vaccine -- dogs. It has been recently discovered that insectivorous bats also are carriers.

Unfortunately, the disease can be contracted from bats without actually coming contact with them, probably by exposure to their excreta which drops from the ceilings of caves where they hang in massive colonies.

All viruses are intracellular parasites, unable to grow or reproduce outside the tissue of a living host. The virus of rabies, like that of poliomyelitis and encephalitis, has a special affinity for the central nervous system.

There, it proliferates so abundantly that the host cannot produce sufficient antibodies against it.

The incubation period depends on the depth of the wound and/or its location, i.e., its proximity to the brain. The size of the viral colony deposited in the wound is also a factor.

While the usual length of time for symptoms to manifest themselves is from one from two to three weeks.

A new fluorescent antibody test can determine if to six months, it can be from two weeks to a year. Meanwhile, if there is the least suspicion that a person has been infected, immediate testing should be started, for the tests take rabies is present within one-half to two hours. If the test is positive, a long, painful and allergenic series of inoculation with anti-rabies vaccine from animal serum has to begin immediately.

A specific anti-rabies human gamma globulin is still in the experimental stage. Financed by the World Health Organization, it appears to be a practicable though expensive procedure that should be ideal, since it would avoid the reactions to animal serum.

CLASSIFYING CANCER

— Since various malignancies call for different types of treatment, the University of Chicago now has reclassified the largest collection of cancer-cell slides for immediate retrieval by computer so that pathologists may quickly identify the type of cancer involved.

COLLAGEN TRANSPLANTS

— Collagen, a natural protein that constitutes 30 per cent of the body's connective tissue, can be reconstituted into gels, thin membranes, tubes, or sheets for any type of transplant. Doctors at Cornell think that, since it is a biological product, its use will reduce the likelihood of rejection.

The Junior Scientist Mysterious Bits of Glass

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

The dark little pieces of glass may be as small as the end of your little finger, or as big as your hand.

They litter great areas of the Earth, especially around Australia and Southeast Asia. What are they?

Scientists are really puzzled by these strange chunks of glass.

They are obviously made of a substance that was very intensely heated at one time. But where? When? How?

They seem to lie in a rather regular pattern, as though they were strewn about by some single event, or just a few events. That adds to the mystery.

Some scientists think that millions of years ago an enormous object crashed into the moon and kicked out great sprays of rock.

During the collision the rock would have been heated to very high temperatures and could have formed the glassy material. Each field may be the result of an individual splash from the moon.

Another theory is that the glassy rocks came from collisions that occurred millions of years ago right here on Earth.

Something very big -- perhaps a comet or a small asteroid -- could have hit the Earth and splashed up a lot of rock. This material may have gone into orbit around the Earth and finally come to rest on the fields we now see.

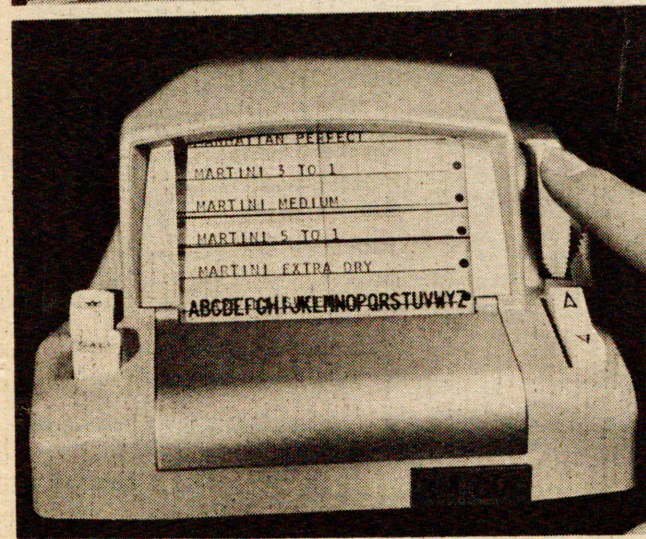

As scientific detective techniques become more sophisticated and as we get closer to having actual samples of moon rock to examine, the hope of solving the mystery becomes better and better.

Solve this rebus to find out what these chunks of glass are called. Start with C - A - T.

Add the words and letters that have a plus sign in front of them and cross off those that have a minus sign in front of them.

The Automatic Bartender

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

This automatic bartender can't lend a sympathetic ear, but it can speed up the service during the rush hour.

The machine, called Compu-U-Bar, can mix and pour any one of 1,000 drinks in four seconds. (A bartender takes an average of 16 seconds per drink.)

The liquor - dispensing apparatus is designed for "service bar" operations -- in restaurants, hotels, resorts and luxury liners -- where there is heavy volume of traffic by waiters and waitresses carrying drinks to tables.

The machine, invented by Stephen R. Krause, president of K & M Electronics Co., Baltimore, Md., is said to provide faster service, uniform drinks, and has an automatic bar check imprinter which produces a check identifying the waiter, the price of each drink and keeps a record of the day's receipts.

For particular martini drinkers, the memory units of some models have martini formulas ranging from 3-to-1 all the way to 12-to-1 (see control in bottom photo).

The original rubber shoes were made by the Mayan and other Central American Indians by dipping their feet in latex, the milky white juice of the rubber tree. They also made water-proof bottles by smoothing latex on a bottle-shaped clay mold, drying the latex, then washing out the clay.

NI-Gas Lowers Rates

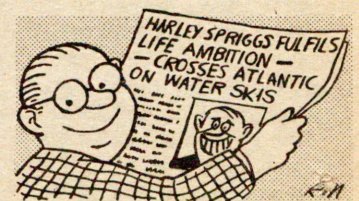

Northern Illinois Gas Company customers will benefit from a rate refund of nearly $12 million over the next year, according to W.J.

Crowley, the utility's executive vice president.

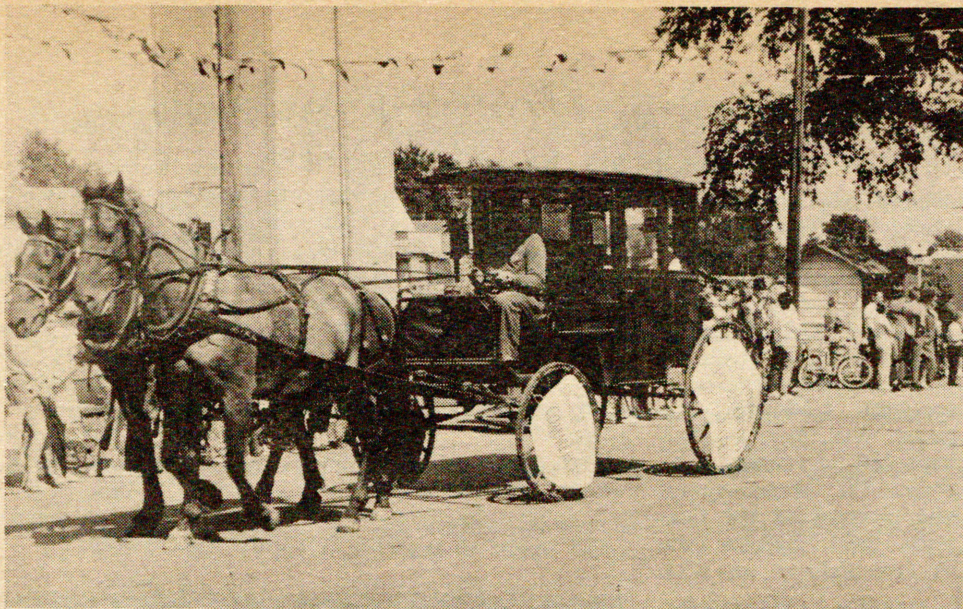

NI-Gas' principal supplier, Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, has refunded $11,978,000 as a result of orders of the Federal Power Commission. It represents the difference between rates actually charged by the pipeline supplier between Feb. 3, 1964, and Dec. 1, 1967, and rates that would have been charged under the FPC ruling.

The refund will be reflected in bills for gas used after July 31 thru a reduction in the company's purchased gas adjustment. Crowley said that the company's residential space heating customers will realize an average decrease in their gas bills of more than $6 per customer over the next 12 months.

"The successful man is the one who matches his back-bone to his wishbone."

FRANKFORT FESTIVAL sponsor was the Chamber of Commerce. This organization was represented in the parade with two conveyances, one of 1890 vintage — a carriage drawn by a team, no less! — and then, of course, a convertible. No parade is complete without one.

Hit By One -- Run Over By Second

A Plainfield woman, riding a bicycle, was killed Monday night near her home. She reportedly pulled in front of a south bound car on Ill. 59, was knocked off her bicycle in front of another southbound auto and run over by the second vehicle.

The driver of this second car was Mrs. Betty Murray, 36, Stunkle Rd., Frankfort Township. Driver of the first car was Charles K. Ramsden, 632 Linden St., Elgin. Victim of the accident was Mrs. Georgia Peterson, 36, of 614 Hillcrest St., Plainfield.

According to the Plainfield police report Mrs. Peterson was northbound on Ill. 59, on a bicycle about 8:30 Monday night, and made a left turn to enter the Marycrest subdivision where she lived. The report says she pulled into the path of Ramsden's southbound auto and the impact threw her off the bicycle and into the path of a following car. Mrs. Murray, who was driving this second car, was pulling a horse trailer behind it. It all happened so fast, it was said, that the motorists were unable to stop in time, but apparently were not speeding. When Mrs. Murray stopped, Mrs. Peterson was under the horse trailer.

Mrs. Peterson was taken to St. Joseph Hospital at Joliet where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Mokena Adopts Nuisance Ordinance

An ordinance defining and prohibiting the creating and maintenance of nuisances has been adopted by the Village of Mokena. The ordinance is a long one, filling nine legal size typewritten pages and appears elsewhere in this newspaper.

The measure deals with many things for almost anything can become a nuisance.

Under the Mokena ordinance offensive smells are taboo, as are what are described as "unwholesome business." Among the businesses so listed as packing houses, tanneries, slaughter houses and the like.

Leaves can be burned between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. -- if the burning does not give off an offensive odor.

It is illegal, however, to burn garbage.

And relative to garbage, the ordinance requires that it be drained, wrapped, and set out in containers with close fitting lids. Containers are to be of metal or plastic and not exceed a capacity of 30 gallons, which means that those 40 and 50 gallon drums are out.

Commercial, industrial, business firms and owners or residents of apartment buildings having more than five families must make their own deals for garbage removal. Litter and trash left about constitute a nuisance, as does an unsightly yard.

A 12-inch limit is put on grass, and weeds must be kept cut, especially jimson, burdock, ragweed and thistles.

Boisterous conduct and the production of loud noises are forbidden by the ordinance. In a block that is more than have given over to residences, the measure bans the use of steam shovels, pneumatic hammers and noise producing machinery.

House trailers are out.

Homeowners with trees or bushes that have branches extended over sidewalks must keep them trimmed.

Nothing is said about box elder trees that attract those huge colonies of black and red bugs according to the ordinance it is a violation to have cottonwood or poplar trees.

Spitting on the sidewalk -- which is found in ordinances that probably had their beginning in the period when women's skirts were so long that they literally swept the ground -- is also banned in the Mokena measure.

Mokena School Budget Open For Inspection

The tentative budget for the Mokena public schools providing for expenditures totaling $813,429 will be on file in the lobby of the Mokena State Bank until next Wednesday, Sept. 11.

On that date the board of education will conduct a public hearing on the budget and adopt it.

The breakdown includes $426,061 for the education fund, which is used for salaries and educational supplies and expenses; $45,803 for the building fund, used for operation and maintenance of school buildings and sites; $60,127 for the bond and interest fund, which is used for retirement of bonds that were sold to build Willowcrest School; $22,970 for transportation fund, to purchase and operate buses to transport students to and from school; $5,500 for Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, to make retirement payments for employees other than teachers; $252,968 for site and construction fund to be used for the construction of the new school, approved by the voters last April.

The $250,000 budgeted in the site and construction fund was acquired at a bond sale held on Aug. 13. The firm Van Kampen, Wauterlek & Brown submitted the low interest bid of 4.22 per cent. Union National Bank of Joliet will serve as the paying agent. Unsuccessful bidders were Continental National Bank, 4.25%; Channer & Newman Securities, 4.27%; Northern Trust Company, 4.36%; McDougall & Condon, 4.46%; and LaSalle National Bank, with 4.54% interest rate.

The board of education was pleased with the bid considering the bond market today. It was pointed out by a Howard Voss Associates representative, Tom Flatland, that the recently acquired "A" Moody rating was a factor in the good interest rate. The Howard Voss Associates firm was hired to handle the bond sale.

There are many more offenses in the ordinance than are listed here and violations are punishable by fines ranging from $5 to $200.

Fix Corn Loan Rates

The basic county price-support loan and purchase rates for 1968-crop corn have been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They are based on a National average loan level of $1.05 per bushel announced Oct. 26, 1967.

On the basis of historical prices, including adjustments for quality, used in the county loan rate determination, rates in virtually all areas were increased one cent per bushel in order to support the price of all corn at the National average loan rate of $1.05 per bushel. In Kansas, downward adjustments of one cent per bushel were made in some of the western counties to improve the corn loan rate relationships with historical farm prices. Other Kansas counties were increased one cent, with ten counties unchanged from 1967 rates.

The schedule of premiums and discounts for 1968-crop corn will be unchanged from those in effect for the 1967 crop.

Air-Water Crisis --- WATER AND THE FARMER

Too much water. Too little water. Either excess concerns the farmer and lessens his profits. But as farmers learn to control the water -- to remove it and to add to it as needed -- higher yield can be the result.

While farmers usually welcome rain, excessive water delays field work and planting, cuts crop yields by reducing root growth, stunts the plant growth, and increases disease and weed infestation.

In the Corn Belt -- and Illinois is very much a part of this area -- one acre out of every four needs additional drainage. To the farmer who uses fertilizer, plants on time, pays attention to seed quality and planting rates, controls weeds and insects . . . the job is only partly done if the soil does not drain correctly. Thus, improved artificial drainage could be the next step to higher profits.

In a recent study, corn yielded 22 bushels more and soybeans six bushels more per acre after good drainage systems were installed.

For farms that need drainage updating, experts advise an attempt at surface drainage first for it usually gives the highest return per dollar spent. Or if tile drainage is practical on the farm, a combined tile and surface drainage system will probably give the best possible yields and profits.

Some farmers find that the water table control is a good way to drain and sub-irrigate permeable soils because control dams raise water levels during the growing season to within two feet of the surface along the ditch and boost yields considerably during the dry years.

While lack of water isn't an immediate problem to all farmers in Illinois, an increasing number are exploring the possibility of increasing their yields by irrigating, especially by irrigating their high-value crops. Farmers in Mason County, as well as around East St. Louis and in some sections of northern Illinois have found that their sandy soils can yield higher profits through irrigation.

Some farmers use ter-aces and grass waterways to solve their water problems. More and more farmers are seeking help from trained conservationists. Such specialists work with individual farmers in forming plans to treat soils to greater absorb rain or snow and to avoid soil tightening caused by too little organic matter or too heavy cropping which prevents soils from absorbing water and results in excessive runoff.

While land owners and operators are especially interested in managing the water on their own land, in increasing numbers they are joining together to solve common problems of erosion, flooding sedimentation and water supply.

Rural and urban neighbors in Illinois are working together to establish small watershed programs and are reaping benefits through control of flood waters, more water for home, farm and industrial use, and water - centered recreational areas.

Urges Adults To Get Free Chest X-Rays

The recent brisk fall weather should stir suburbanites into action -- especially to get the chest X-ray which they've been neglecting all summer.

That's the advice of Dr. E. A. Piszczek, field director of the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District, which provides free X-ray service thruout suburban Cook County.

"Getting a chest X-ray each year should be part of every adult's health routine," Dr. Piszczek suggested. "TB is no respecter of persons and can strike any one at any time. Hence, a regular chest X-ray is most advisable to guard against the possibility of TB."

Various occupations are also required by law to get a chest X-ray each year, Dr. Piszczek noted. They include all school personnel, food handlers and others groups such as barbers and beauticians who come into contact with the public.

As a part of its continuing effort to find new cases of TB, the District, which is tax supported, is conducting X-ray surveys in more than 70 suburban communities. The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County (the Christmas Seal agency), the Cook County health departments and local health agencies assist and cooperate in this effort.

"Those suburbanites who have already gotten their X-rays this summer should urge others to do the same," Dr. Piszczek said. "If you missed a unit near you, free X-rays are also available at The District's TB out-tient clinics in Park Ridge, Forest Park and Harvey."

The clinics are open to the public and are located at 1999 Dempster St., Park Ridge; 7556 West Jackson Blvd., Forest Park; and 15948 S. Halsted, Harvey.

Gives Picture Of 300 Jobs At Work

Jobs . . . three hundred of them will soon be added to the labor market in South Cook County.

This encouraging statistic was part of a report recently presented by South Suburban Hospital announcing the building progress of South Cook County's newest hospital currently under construction at 177th street and Kedzie avenue in Hazel Crest.

With planning, financing, test boring, surveying and invitations to bid completed, officials at South Suburban Hospital expect the new building to be completed by 1970.

The three hundred positions will provide job opportunities for local residents and add $1,300,000 to the local economy in payrolls, it was said. Long range effects of this added payroll and additional buying power of local residents will contribute to South Cook County's social and economic development.

The impact of the new jobs will be felt in every phase of the community's economy, a hospital spokesman said. Government surveys show the 300 new jobs will bring $210,000 of added sales to grocery stores, department stores will add $90,000 to their retail sales, service stations $60,000, lumber yard and material sales, $45,000, and restaurants $90,000.

The new jobs will add 321 more car registrations, 332 more house holds, 900 new residents, $800,000 in bank deposits, and more retail establishments with more than $1,000,000 in retail sales to the community, it was claimed.

In presenting the South Suburban Hospital's progress report, Paul Weber, Hospital Administrator, pointed out, "this 4.5 million dollar project will not only fill the need for an additional 120 bed hospital but also add much to our community's economy."

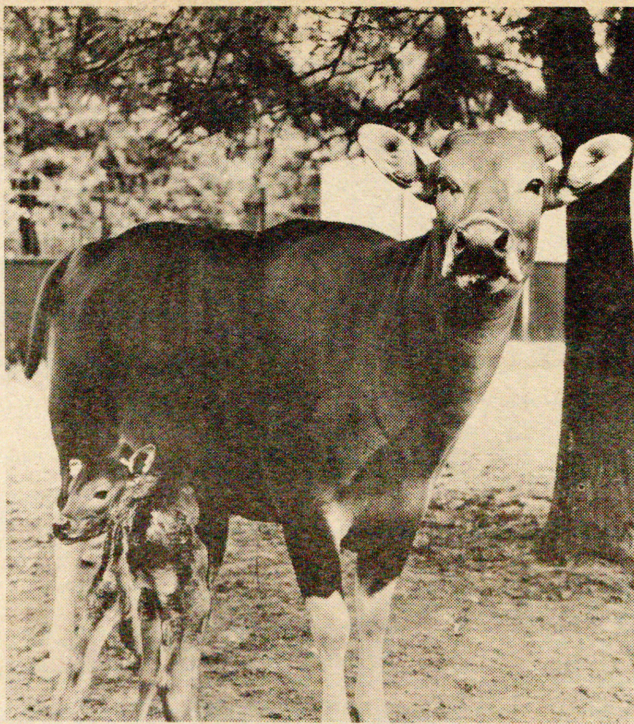

Oak Forest To Have New Railway Depot

The Rock Island Lines announced today it plans to construct a new suburban station in the Village of Oak Forest, in the vicinity of 159th and Cicero, at a cost of $25,000.

Murl H. Bonesteel, director of the railroad's suburban and passenger services, made the announcement after conferring with Oak Forest's Mayor R. E. Bobbitt and other civic officials.

"Construction is scheduled to begin in October with completion slated for January of next year," Mr. Bonesteel said.

The new 22' x 58' station will be a brick, ranch-type

LOOKS LIKE CATTLE, you say. Well, you are right. These are cattle but quite rare in these parts. As a matter of fact you would have to travel to Southeastern Asia if you wanted to see some but for the fact that the Brookfield zoo has some Bantengs. The calf shown here, a female, was born July 20 and is the second Banteng to be born at Brookfield from an adult pair obtained in 1965. They are a true wild cattle but since some of them are tamed and crossed with domestic breeds few pure strains remain, it was said. There are said to be less than two dozen in the USA at this time. The males, with their size and massive horns can be quite dangerous. The males are nearly black with a white rump patch; the females are reddish tan and are white below. These are large animals but fortunately they become adjusted to captivity and are fairly tractable in a relatively short time, according to zoo officials.

Edison Co. Plans To Go Into Gas Business

Commonwealth Edison Company Wednesday filed a petition with the Illinois Commerce Commission seeking authority to create a wholly owned subsidiary to operate the gas and heating utility properties of its Central Illinois Electric and Gas Co. division.

Chairman J. Harris Ward said the new gas company would provide gas service to approximately 96,000 customers centered mainly in and around the Rockford, Lincoln and Freeport areas in Illinois. In all, a total of 70 communities would be served by the Edison subsidiary.

The proposed name of the new company is Mid-Illinois Gas Company.

According to Mr. Ward, Edison would own all of the stock to be issued by the new company. Edison directors and officers would serve in similar capacities with the subsidiary and the present management and personnel will continue to operate the utility.

"The proposed separation of our gas and electric properties follows a pattern previously established by Edison," Mr. Ward said. "Because of the diverse technical and operating aspects of the respective businesses, we believe that electric and gas utilities operate more effectively as separate entities. Customers ultimately derive the benefit of such separation."

Central Illinois Electric and Gas Co. was merged into Edison on December 9, 1966 and since that time Edison has carried on the gas busi-

Home Fire Drills Could Save Lives

Fire drills should be conducted at home -- just as they are in schools and other public places -- the American Insurance Association recommends.

Home fires, the Association says, claimed some 6,700 lives in the United States in 1967 -- 60 per cent of the victims being the very young and the very old.

The fire drills should be conducted periodically. They should be based on an escape plan that features: 1) a floor plan indicating all doors, windows, stairways, porches, and porch roofs, 2) alternate routes for escape from any part of the house or apartment, 3) practice drills both day and night so that every member of the family knows how to leave the premises in a hurry, 4) assignment of someone to help the very young and elderly to leave the premises, and 5) agreement on a meeting place outside the house where all must assemble.

Aside from the drills, the Association makes a pointed reminder:

"Remember! Fire prevention is your best fire protection!"

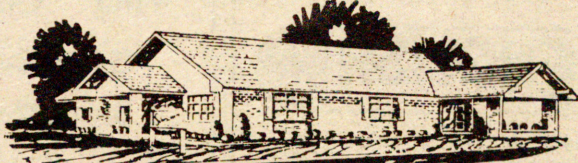

Plan Two Services On Sundays

Sunday, Sept. 8, will begin the two service schedule for the Palos Park Presbyterian Community Church, 12312 S. 88th Ave. Divine worship is held at 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. The pastor, Dr. P. M. Lundell, will have as his sermon subject, "The Foundation of Life".

The Church School will commence this year on the same day at both 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. A new curriculum, The Covenant Life, will be used in all departments. It follows three main themes, The Bible, Church and the Christian Life.

A well equipped child care center is available once again -- cribs, playpens and all necessary articles will be provided to care for all "wee ones" up to age two.
